Detmold, 18.08.2022

Dear ladies and gentlemen, dear members, dear friends, we would like to start by thanking you that so many of you responded to our call for the vigil at the Hofsynagoge! Special thanks also to the Grandmas-against-Right, who were strongly represented and were very cooperative and helpful in the preparation. But also thanks to all the others who braved the heat and calmly and peacefully made a statement.

There will soon be a round table for joint planning of further action. If you are interested in participating, please email or call us.

We would like to point out events of the Society that will take place in the near future at Haus Münsterberg or in Detmold:

City walk in Detmold: On Jewish traces

Guide: Gudrun Mitschke-Buchholz

December 1941, March 1942, and July 1942. These dates mark fundamental losses and equally fundamental crimes. In December 1941, Detmold Jews were deported to Riga; in March of the following year, more people were forced onto the transport to Warsaw, "to the East"; and in July 1942, mainly the elderly were forced to leave their crumbling homes for Theresienstadt.

Within about half a year, the Jewish people of Detmold had, as it would later be called, "disappeared." They were "gone."

On the occasion of the 80th anniversary of these deportations, a city tour in cooperation with the Detmold City Archives with Gudrun Mitschke-Buchholz will take place on Sunday, August 28, 2022 at 11 am. Please note: Meeting point for this tour is at Hermannstraße 29! The focus is mainly on the people who were affected by the deportations, but also on institutions that were responsible for carrying out the deportation to death.

The tour lasts about 1 ½ - 2 hours, the cost is 5 € per person, reduced 2 € per person

Meeting point: Hermannstraße 29, Detmold

Workshop on "Exploration and Elimination. The Church 'Entjudungsinstitut' 1939-1945"

In preparation for the study trip to Eisenach, but also open to all interested, we invite you to the workshop in the garden hall of Haus Münsterberg.

On May 6, 1939, with a ceremony at the Wartburg in Eisenach, the "Institute for Research and Elimination of Jewish Influence on German Church Life" was founded on the basis of a resolution of eleven Protestant regional churches. The institute was closely linked to the ideology and organization of the "Church Movement of German Christians," which originated in Thuringia. The goal of this church-political movement was to adapt the Christian faith and the institution of the church to the dictates of the National Socialist worldview. The "research work" of the church "Entjudungsinstitut" served to legitimize the exclusion and persecution policy of the National Socialist race ideology, to purge the Protestant church of all alleged Jewish influences.

Our Protestant chairman Dr. Oliver Arnhold will lead this workshop as an expert. His book "'Entjudung' von Theologie und Kirche. The Eisenach 'Institute for Research and Elimination of Jewish Influence on German Church Life' 1939-1945" was published in 2020.

"I have never met a Jew ..."

Life stories from Germany

Gerhard Haase-Hindenberg

"I have never met a Jew": This is a phrase most Jews have heard before.

On the occasion of the anniversary "1700 Years of Jews in Germany", actor and Spiegel bestselling author Gerhard Haase-Hindenberg talks about the diversity of Jewish life in Germany.

About Dagmar, who, behind the back of her Jewish father, of all things applies for the police service; about Marina, who came to Germany from the former USSR and only here is confronted with the religious past of her family; and about David, the jazz musician from New York, who discovers in Berlin the "most Jewish city" in Germany. There is the Jewish Bundeswehr doctor who consciously wears the kippa even when on duty, and the scientific employee at the Karlsruhe Nuclear Research Center who also derives his Jewish faith from mathematics, and the stories are told of people who converted to Judaism of their own free will.

All these stories of everyday life of Jews living in Germany, their stories and experiences, their hopes and the threats of rising anti-Semitism are interwoven by the author with explanations of symbols, faith practice and history.

Gerhard Haase-Hindenberg is a trained actor who appeared, among other things, as the underworld type Stullen-Paul in Dieter Wedel's six-parter "König von St. Pauli" and stood in front of the camera as Reichsfeldmarschall Göring alongside Tom Cruise in the Hollywood film "Operation Valkyrie." In addition, he worked for many years as a writer for television and radio formats and as a publicist (including for Die Welt / Welt am Sonntag, Die ZEIT and daily newspapers). He has also been writing for the Jüdische Allgemeine for several years. Haase-Hindenberg has written more than ten narrative nonfiction books, including "Der Mann, der die Mauer öffnete," the literary model for the award-winning TV film "Bornholmer Straße".

Admission free.

Amazement Learning Mourning

A series of events as part of the Jubilee Year 1700 Years of Jewish Life in Germany

"Staunen Lernen Trauern" offers a small but fine program of five events with Jewish music by Jewish composers and literary, essayistic or liturgical texts.

Flyer with info on all five events can be found HERE.

Encounter and exchange are the only ways to learn from each other in spite of the past. This is even more true in times when anti-Semitism is on the rise.

Lending of the exhibition "Eva, Simon and the Others". Jewish History and Culture in the Herford Area now available

The exhibition as part of the Jubilee Year 1700 Years of Jewish Life in Germany 2021 is now available for loan to schools and other institutions after the conclusion of the exhibition at the Zellentrakt Memorial.

The design of the exhibition takes the "Memorial to the Murdered Jews of Europe, Holocaust Memorial for short" in Berlin as its model. Gray steles symbolize the loss for Germany and the Herford area through the Holocaust. In the exhibition, however, the focus is not on the times of persecution and extermination, but rather on the fragile "normality" and everyday life of the Jews in the Herford area. Cultural and economic heights and losses are presented and the contribution of the Jews to the development of society and economy is shown. The resurgence after 1945 and the current situation of the Jewish community in the Herford area are at the end of the exhibition. Current developments of anti-Semitism in Germany and the Herford area form a separate part.

Further information about the exhibition and lending is available here: Flyer
